

Steven Harmeyer

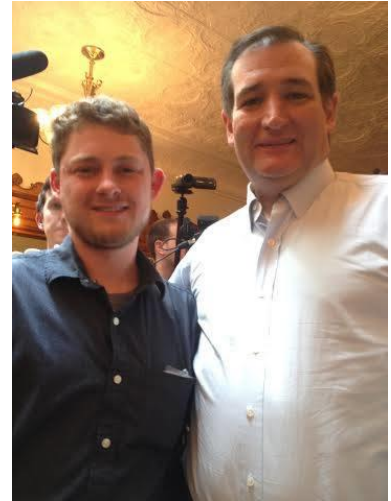

Class of 2006

Community Development Director
City of Batesville

Education after BHS:

I attended Bellarmine University in Louisville, majoring in Communications, prior to transferring to Ivy Tech Community College.

Career:

I began working part-time at WRBI when I was 16 and later became the news director following college and other work assignments in various sectors. In 2014, I was offered a position to join iHeartMedia in Cincinnati where I served as a news reporter covering both local news for 700WLW and national news for ABC Radio. Following that, I became a News Director for a three-station cluster in central Indiana. Afterward, I was blessed with the opportunity to join the City of Batesville as the Community Development Director and have been lucky to serve my hometown and make a positive difference.

About Steven:

I currently reside in Batesville. My parents are Rick Harmeyer and Candace Moehringer and my siblings are Joey (married to Jessica), Adam, and Eric. I enjoy spending time with my girlfriend, Olivia Fledderman.

Activities while at Batesville High School:

I transferred to BHS after attending Oldenburg Academy for two years and was involved in baseball.

Best education-related memory from BHS:

I was able to travel to Germany with Andy Koors' class and that was an eye-opening experience for a 17-year-old who had not previously had the opportunity to travel internationally.

A quote about the importance of education:

Follow your passion and invest in it! Trust your ambitions and work hard to obtain the necessary education and skills to reach your goals.
